Rain-Makers Fight Shortage Of Power

Uncle Sam Picking Up Check In Big-Time Experiment To Bring Water To Northwest

YAKIMA, Wash.—(AP)—Rain-making is coming to the Pacific northwest's inland empire on a big-time scale.

The first generators already have been set in operation to try to "squeeze" all the rain possible from clouds over the upper Columbia river system's watershed. The hope is that enough rain may come to ease a serious power shortage which federal officials blame on an upper Columbia river water shortage.

This project, with a government agency picking up the check, is planned on a scale to make earlier cloud-priming efforts in the region look like a drop in the bucket.

Previous Efforts Private
Previous rain-making efforts in the northwest have been financed in restricted areas. The farmers are still squabbling over it and threatening lawsuits.

In the Yakima valley, fruit growers have organized "Sunshine Unlimited" as an anti-rain-making organization. They contend made-to-order rain for nearby wheat lands slopped over and wrecked their cherry crops and damaged other fruits this summer.

It has rivaled the old-time range feuds between western sheepmen and cattlemen.

The effort now being launched will be financed by the Bonneville power administration, an agency of the interior department. The aim will be to bring heavy rainfall to the dry hills of northern Washington and northern Idaho, where some of the Columbia river tributaries will feed it down to Grand Coulee and Bonneville dams on the Columbia.

The $59,500 contract is with the Water Resources Development corporation of Denver. It is headed by Dr. Irving Krick, one of the better known names in the rain field since Noah.

Some scientists say that clouds which will give rain naturally can be "milked" of double the rainfall. The Krick process involves generators which throw out silver iodide in fine form. The generators in effect are small furnaces which send out a heated blast of gas. It carries along the silver iodide and rides to the clouds on upward air current.

Democracy's Proof Is In Living It, Chicago Man Tells B'nai B'rith Here

The necessity of living democracy at home if "we are to convince the world of its desirability" was pointed out at the annual banquet of Lincoln lodge No. 337 of B'nai B'rith Wednesday evening.

The speaker, Richard E. Gutstadt of Chicago, executive vice chairman of the Anti-Defamation league of B'nai B'rith and president of the Chicago Sinai congregation, also commented on the significance of Israel in today's world.

He stressed importance of that country's "very efficient army and the passionate devotion of its citizens to their ancient homeland as a strong fortress against the onrush of communism," which is "greedily coveting the great oil reserves" of the Near East.

Reading Helps Patients: State Hospital Using 'Book Therapy'

BY ARCH DONOVAN
(Star Staff Writer)

A few days stay in the hospital emphasizes the importance of reading therapy now being offered by Dr. F. L. Spradling, superintendent of Lincoln state hospital, and Mrs. Louise Breckenridge, librarian, for patients requiring long time treatment there.

A four year ambition of Dr. Spradling and Mrs. Harold Prince, chairman of the board of control, has been achieved. The hospital now has a library suitable to meet its needs.

Four years ago it was housed in a basement room because of overcrowded conditions. But with passage of the building fund levy by the legislature in 1947, plans were started to improve conditions.

A new admission building was built that relieved the housing situation. The old "B" building, sometimes termed the "snake pit," has now been given over.

At minimum expense, by remodeling, the board of control has made from this decrepit building a modern therapy unit. Among other things it houses the 6,000 volume hospital library and a collection of favorite magazines.

In addition to the hospital volumes, Miss Louise Nixon, secretary of the state library commission, keeps a steady flow of additional books going to the hospital.

Special service is given on any desired book.

Mrs. Breckenridge keeps the library constantly prepared to meet the requirements of 1,700 patients. Group reading hours are provided for those able to visit the library.

Ridgway Proposes New Site

No Man's Land Town Of Songhyn Urged For Top-Level Meet

TOKYO—(Thursday)—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today proposed the suspended Korean armistice talks be resumed at a new site—on the battlefield in No Man's Land.

The supreme allied commander suggested the vicinity of Songhyn—six miles east of the present truce city of Kaesong which is behind communist front lines.

In his message to the red high command—North Korean Gen. Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh Hui—Ridgway said this site would require:

No Armed Troops
"That this meeting place would be kept free of armed troops and both sides would abstain from any hostile acts or exercise of authority over members of the other side in their passage to this point or while they are there."

Allied personnel traveling to Kaesong must now pass through a communist front line checkpoint at Panmunjom, about five miles east of Kaesong.

Ridgway's suggestion came after allied and red liaison officers failed to meet for a fourth session at Kaesong to discuss ways of getting the suspended truce parleys going again.

The United States, Gutstadt reported on progress, being made with the help of many educators, in abolishing "quota systems" of many colleges and universities. These systems are means of controlling enrollment of Negroes and Jewish students.

He also cited progress being made by various B'nai B'rith programs and foundations.

Following the banquet, two members received awards for outstanding work during the past year. They were Ben Ross and Henry Wald.

New officers of the local lodge were also installed. They are: Dr. Leon Chesin, president; Robert Cohen, first vice president; Harry Kohn, second vice president; David Brodsky, third vice president; Marion Gratz, recording secretary; Sam Garson, financial secretary; H. Bricker, treasurer.

Statewide Frost Seen Thursday

All Nebraska was expected to feel the frost-scourge Thursday night—for most of the state the second consecutive visit by corn-killing temperatures.

The northern and western portions of the state felt light frost Wednesday night, if late Wednesday forecasts by the weather bureau followed form. Thursday is to be generally fair, Thursday forecasts said, and then the universal frost should arrive.

The Wednesday non-frost visited sections of the state had low temperatures of 35 and upwards, and highs for the whole state will be around 52 to 55 Thursday.

A new cold wave, moving out of Canada, almost certainly would complete the previously predicted freeze job this time, the weather bureau cautioned.

Reds Toss In A New Super-Jet

Foe Probably Loses 2 Ships; 12 Damaged

U.N. COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Korea—(Thursday)—(AP)—Communist Wednesday, threw a new high-wing super jet in history in a day that saw 256 jets in action.

American fighter pilots returned with the news that the reds had introduced the swift new fighter in a brilliant challenge of allied air supremacy.

The communists lost possibly two jets and suffered damage to 12 others, the United States Fifth air force said. It did not report any allied losses.

Two major battles were fought Wednesday. One, the largest single jet engagement, involved 197 planes.

May Be MIG-19
(Reports in Tokyo indicated the new red plane might be the Russian-made MIG-19. High sources in Tokyo said the new daring and eagerness of red pilots seemed to presage a challenge all over the Korean peninsula. They said the reds now may have the air strength they had lacked to conduct all-out war).

Toughest fighting on the ground still centered on "Heartbreak Ridge," north of Yangju on the east-central front.

(The bitterness of the battle for "Heartbreak Ridge" apparently was reflected in the announcement from Washington that United States battle casualties reached 83,469 Wednesday, an increase of 2,212 since last week—the largest weekly increase since June 27).

The bean porridge was hot at the Richard Densberger residence, 609 North Twenty-second, Wednesday.

Firemen rushed to the scene when smoke was observed pouring out of the house. They discovered a pot of beans, which Mrs. Densberger has accidentally left on the stove.

Nothing was damaged but the beans.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate investigations subcommittee Wednesday night required Washington lawyer Max Siskind to tell publicly the names of a group of clients he took over from Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle Jr., and represented before government agencies.

Protesting to the end that it was a violation of his rights, Siskind finally began the recitation. He reported "satisfactory" settlements in the first eight cases he mentioned from a list of 23.

The 23 cases were those he had sworn earlier he purchased from Boyle in 1949 for an agreed price of $150,000, with no written agreement. Sen. Nixon (R-Calif.) denounced the deal as a "subterfuge" to hide the true financial relationship between Boyle and Siskind.

Claims Nixon Unfair
Siskind accused Nixon of "being unfair" to him, and denied the accusation.

Insisting that Boyle sold the cases to him after Boyle became the salaried democratic national vice chairman, and had nothing to do with them since, Siskind named as clients:

1. Simpson Oil Co., Cape Girardeau, Mo., which he said he represented when it got a Reconstruction Finance Corp. loan of "about $350,000" in August, 1949. Siskind said he collected all of $13,500 still due from the firm.

2. Vawter Construction Co., Kansas City, Kas., defended before a special hearing commission on charge of violating war production board construction limits. No violation found. Case referred by Belleme & Bellemere, Kansas City, Mo., and valued in $150,000. Settlement with Boyle at $9,500. Siskind said he collected $2,000 on account, and $6,500 still due.

3. A claimant named Hartman "against the Mexican mixed claims commission. Got $11,000 settlement. $500 valuation of the account paid in full.

4. Johnson Clinic, Kansas City, Mo., in a case before the food and drug administration which Siskind said charged the firm with misleading labeling. $6,250 fees never paid and written off as "no value."

5. GEO-Mineral Co., address not given, civil case before food and drug administration. $2,500 valuation of account. Settled for $2,000.

6. Trans-Caribbean Airlines, which he believes is New York firm, in charged mortgage case before war assets administration. Account valued at $1,000. Collected in full.

7. United Air Lines, defending the firm against a $10,000 claim by war assets administration in a lease dispute which also involved "the Tucker plant." Got a $97,000 settlement. $30,000, appraised value of the account, still due. $15,000 fees already had been paid before he bought the case.

8. Pacific Far East Lines, San Francisco, in $250,000 claim against the Chinese government. Got a $150,000 settlement. Collected full $30,000 appraised value of the account after Boyle sold.

P.M.A. 1952 Payments To Be About The Same

By HOMER FINE
(Farm Editor, The Star)

Nebraska's 1952 PMA payments for conservation will apparently be about the same as this year, according to material being assembled now for the PMA handbook.

Generally, farmers can expect slightly increased rates to cover new conservation practices listed in specifications.

The biggest increase is slated for sod waterway construction, which goes from five cents a cubic yard to seven for dirt fills and the accompanying packing, shaping and seeding. The new rate is supposed to cover 70 per cent of the costs.

Changes in specifications of several practices are being worked out for coordinating the PMA and SCS handbooks, reflecting agreement between the two departments.

The PMA handbook was worked out by representatives of the PMA, SCS, extension service, forest service and farmers home

Half Million Men, Heretofore Deferred, Eligible For Duty

New Draft Regulations Signed By President; Conscientious Objectors Must Perform Work

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Wednesday signed new draft regulations making half a million childless married men eligible for military service.

The new regulations are designed to put into effect the draft law enacted by congress last June.

It narrows military exemptions by making eligible for service married men with only a wife as a dependent, except in cases of extreme hardship.

Brig. Gen. Louis Renfrow, acting director of selective service, told newsmen the new regulations make some 500,000 men heretofore deferred, eligible for duty.

Renfrow added that selective service hopes to get 200,000 men out of that total. This estimate may be high because the army's rejection rate heretofore has been about 53 per cent, and various other causes affect eligibility.

Aliens Liable
The new regulations for the first time also:

1. Make aliens with permanent residence in the United States liable for the draft. They are exempt only if diplomatic personnel, or if they are citizens of one of 20 countries with which the United States has signed military exemption treaties. Aliens previously had not been liable unless they had taken out their first citizenship papers.

2. Allow 17-year-olds to volunteer for induction with the written consent of a parent or guardian. Volunteers have not been accepted heretofore until they reached draft registration age of 18.

3. Require conscientious objectors to perform some work of national importance for two years.

4. Provide for selection of men by age groups to prevent exclusive call-up of young men.

Draft boards in the past have been given quotas, and some boards have dipped much more deeply into the younger age groups than other boards to fill their quotas.

Renfrow said the change will permit a leveling off of calls while pools of older men are still available.

The new universal military training and service law (UMTS) provides six months of military training for all men between the ages of 18 and 19. A five-man commission has been appointed to draft details of this program, and has until Oct. 29 to report to congress.

Girl Strangles On Toy Balloon

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—A two and one-half year old girl strangled to death on a toy balloon here Wednesday. Efforts of a fire department resuscitation crew to revive her were futile.

Victim was Olivia Miramonte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miramonte. She was playing in the family yard with her brother and a cousin when she began choking.

A portion of the balloon was recovered from the dead girl's throat when an autopsy was performed.

AP Managing Editors Expect Truman And Taft To Get Bids

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The men who run America's leading newspapers took a quick look at the 1952 presidential election Wednesday and in an Associated Press Managing Editors association poll picked:

1. President Truman to win the democratic nomination again next year.

2. Sen. Taft of Ohio to capture the republican nomination.

3. But Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, if he became the standard bearer of either party, could defeat either Truman or Taft.

The poll was made on the basis of returns from half the 250 managing editors attending a four-day convention in San Francisco.

The editors voted 115 to 7 that Truman would be the democratic nominee with the seven votes going to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson. They voted almost 2 to 1 (75 to 41) that Taft would get the GOP nomination over Eisenhower.

They voted 3 to 1 (91 to 32) that Truman could defeat Taft next year, and better than 2 to 1 (79 to 21) that Truman would down Gen. MacArthur if he should be the GOP nominee.

The editors, by an 8 to 1 margin (105 to 13) picked Eisenhower to defeat Truman if they should be the opponents. By an even larger 10 to 1 margin (103 to 10) they thought Eisenhower could tumble Taft if they were the two candidates.

Neither Gov. Tom Dewey of New York, the 1948 GOP candidate, nor Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, figured in this poll.

Masanori Asano is studying political science and English. He also is studying the administrative organization of American city governments.

He hopes, thus, to obtain first-hand knowledge of how American city administrations are organized and run.

Since coming to America July 24, he has visited Denver, San Francisco, Berkeley, and Colorado Springs in addition to Lincoln.

Warehouse Burglarized

Case Is Similar To Laundry Break-Ins

Police early Thursday morning were investigating a break in and possible burglary of the old Sperry and Hutchinson warehouse at Eighth and L street. The job was similar to a series of cleaning establishment attempted burglaries committed Tuesday night.

The renovated building, now used as storage space by Peterson and Peterson Trucking company and Prucka Transportation company, was apparently entered through a first floor window sometime just before midnight.

Apparently little if anything was taken. Harold Ragner, 4603 South Fifty-fourth, manager for the Peterson concern, said money was removed from both offices every night before closing.

Police had not determined whether anything else had been taken.

Patrolman Edwin Kringle discovered the forced window and investigated.

Sgt. Lewis Greiner told The Star evidence at the scene indicated the same person or persons had entered the establishments as had attempted to rob the three cleaners.

(See story page 2 on cleaning break-ins.)

Movement For Stassen Seems Near

Harold E. Stassen, once presidential candidate in pre-convention republican politics, appeared ready for another try Thursday as a Nebraska movement for him gained momentum and Stassen divorced himself from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's skirts, partially aligning himself with Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, declared in Madison, Wisc., Tuesday night that he had not announced any support for the NATO chief, despite reports to that effect.

He said he hadn't decided yet whether he would seek the GOP nomination in 1952, but probably would decide "before January."

At the same time, a potential "Stassen for president" movement appeared to be developing in Nebraska as state politics got up steam.

Backers Here

Two Minnesota backers of the Pennsylvania university president were in Lincoln testing Stassen's strength in Nebraska.

They conferred with Gov. Val Peterson and Fred Seaton, Hastings, former Nebraska Stassen campaign manager.

Seaton said afterwards that consideration is being given to getting Stassen's name on the Nebraska preferential presidential primary ballot April 1.

The two Minneapolis men were Warren Burger and Elmer Ryan. Stassen said he believed Nebraska was generally "friendly" to Stassen. The former Minnesota governor ran away with the Nebraska 1948 presidential primary. He got 80,979 votes, with Dewey second with 64,242 and Taft third with 21,608.

The trio visited Gov. Peterson in his chambers and were guests of the governor at a luncheon.

The governor was asked if he were asked to take part in any national campaign.

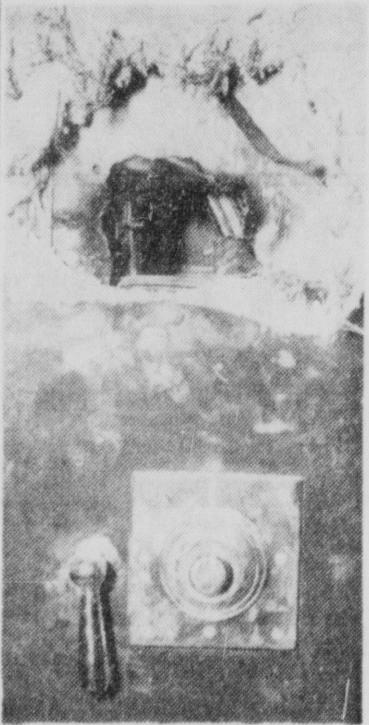

"Not on this particular occasion," the governor replied.

'High Regard'

Meanwhile, the Madison State Journal, in the Wisconsin capital, reported that Stassen would probably seek a spot in the dairy state primary next spring.

The college head himself, in Madison to address a dairymen's convention, said he had "high regard" for Sen. McCarthy, a republican of that state, and his "campaign" to "oust communists" from government positions.

He did not approve of all McCarthy's actions, however, he said.

Third Alleged Kitts Associate Is Picked Up

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP)—A former North Platte, Neb., man was arrested Wednesday, the third alleged associate of the notorious Kenneth Allen Kitts to be picked up in less than 24 hours.

Charles C. Robinson, was arrested by FBI men at Torrington, Wyo., it was announced Wednesday by M. B. Rhodes, special agent in charge of the Minneapolis office.

Robinson, Kitts, and two other men picked up Tuesday, Frank Ellsworth and Tony Joe Biase, both of Omaha, were indicted at Deadwood, S.D., two weeks ago.

Robinson and Biase were charged with helping Kitts in the $40,000 burglary of the Hurley, S.D., state bank Dec. 10, 1948.

Head Of Presbyterian Women Council To Speak

Mrs. W. Verne Buchanan, president of the National Council of Presbyterian Women, will address a Presbyterian meeting in Lincoln Friday morning.

The officer will talk on her recent trip to South America at Westminster Presbyterian church at 11 a.m.

Women's church group of 14 eastern Nebraska counties have been invited to attend a luncheon meeting.

Burglars Enter Three Lincoln Cleaning Plants

Three Lincoln cleaning establishments were entered Tuesday night by burglars who apparently did not find what they were looking for. No money or clothing was taken in any of the robberies.

An eight-inch hole was found above the dial in the safe at Speier's Laundry and Cleaners, 340 South Eleventh, and the intruder's tools were found on the floor nearby.

Desks and filing cabinets were ransacked at Speier's and also at Glove Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 1124 L, and at Lincoln Cleaning and Dye Works, 326 South Eleventh.

An unidentified man, picked up by police for questioning in the Speier's break-in, was released Wednesday, after he had been cleared of suspicion, Inspector Eugene Masters said.

The alarm was turned in by Leslie Cooney, night engineer of 2803 Washington, at 5:30 a.m.

A square patch of metal safe covering was peeled back and a plaster-type insulation was scattered about on the floor. The safe at the Globe firm was untouched.

All three concerns are owned by the same corporation and police have reason to believe that the robberies are connected. The keys to all three places, which are kept at Speier's, were found near a stairway at the Globe.

Mrs. Pavey, Resident Here 49 Years, Dies

Mrs. Minnie L. Pavey, 64, of 4146 Lennox, died late Wednesday afternoon at her home. She had been a resident of Lincoln for 49 years.

Mrs. Pavey was born in Altona, Ill., and later came to Box Butte county, Neb., where her family home-stayed. After living in Kirksville, Mo., she came to Lincoln. Her husband, William, died in 1946.

She is survived by five sons, Harry E. Leonard G. Carl S. and Edward W. of El Cajon, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. Florence Shirey, Mrs. Inez Hutsell and Miss Dela Pavey, all of Lincoln; four sisters, Mrs. Josephine Brady, Mrs. Julia Peterson, and Mrs. Katherine Tracey, all of Lincoln, and Mrs. Vivian Kendle of Kearney; two brothers, George Erickson of Lincoln, and Leonard Erickson of Portland, Ore.; 17 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Years Of Music Were Rich For Retired Concordia Instructor

Professor Karl Haase, now retired after 41 years of music teaching at Concordia Teachers college, has packed more than a life-time of experiences into his last 80 years.

Friday, the long-time musician will celebrate his 80th birthday with Lincoln relatives at 2190 D street.

Haase began his teaching career in Wisconsin schools and for 14 years concentrated on teaching all subjects as well as music fifth to eighth graders.

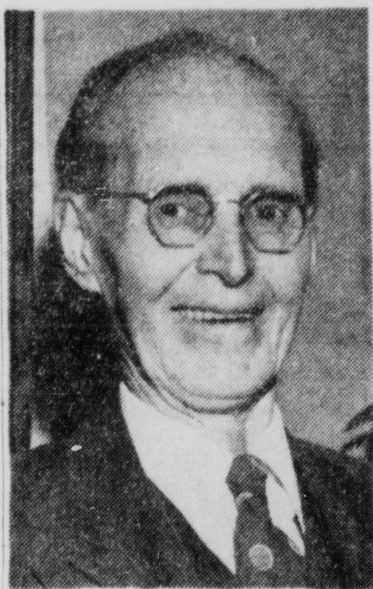

After coming to Concordia the year it started college level course—1906—Haase took over the difficult task of beginning a music school.

He taught chorus, piano, violin, and his specialty, organ, to both college and high school students.

As sidelines to his more than 50 years of teaching, he has drawn up specifications for hundreds of organs throughout the country.

Recitals by the organist have earned him national recognition in music circles. Haase has also earned the highest degree given by the American Guild of Organists.

At 75, the energetic Haase published a complete set of preludes for the 660 hymns in "The Lutheran Hymnal," and a collection of wedding music. Previously, he had written and published music for the organ, choirs and male choruses.

The retired organist now has the exploits of his musical family to follow. His daughter in Lincoln is a church choir director and his granddaughter an organist. His son, Erich of Chicago, is a music instructor.

Popularity May or May Not Reflect Success

By J. Gordon Roberts

Napoleon writing in exile reflects the futility of success viewed in a mirror which does not reflect reality.

Why is it futile to measure success in terms of a reflected figure seen through the eyes of the world?

People usually like things in one of two ways: for the satisfaction derived from an object, or because of emotional attachment to the object itself.

We like a picture that fits into the color scheme of a room. We like it still more if it has been painted by a close friend or relative. We like it perhaps even more if we have created the picture, ourselves, and it thus represents inner satisfaction of our creative energies.

We like things for their utilitarian value. We like a radio if it performs well and looks well.

As baseball fans, we like a second-base man who makes double-plays and gets hits. We like both the radio and second-base man in fundamentally the same way.

On the other hand, there is the kind of affection we feel for the mongrel mutt that paddles about the kitchen floor with muddy feet. On the basis of performance he is simply awful. Yet the affection is for the dog, not his abominable performance.

Those who base their concept of success upon the same concept by which one evaluates a radio or automobile do not have a mature sense of values.

Christ said there is no substitute for love; that any other standard of success is a sham. The history of those men who have endeavored to live in a mirror of reflected glory certainly demonstrate this proposition to be true.

Two Denied Writs

Two penitentiary inmates have been denied writs of habeas corpus in orders signed by Federal Judge John W. Delehant.

In issuing the order Judge Delehant pointed out that both men have failed to utilize all remedies offered them in the state courts.

One of the inmates, Harry A. Swanson, is serving a life term for murder in the first degree. He was convicted in Dawson county and his longhand application covers some 70 pages.

The other man, George Duncan, was sentenced from Hall county and claims he pleaded guilty to get into the penitentiary, and away from the Hall county jail. He alleges he was under "mental and physical" duress during his stay there.

Nobody Or Somebody

Senator Bob Taft gave painful offense to one of the staunch, sturdy conservative republican newspapers of the American midlands when he was reported to have expressed the opinion that "Any republican can win the presidency next year." It was not clear whether Mr. Taft was speaking for himself or for the other fellow in the event "Mr. Republican" is not nominated as his party's standard-bearer in 1952.

With red spots in front of its eyes, and painful memories adding to its misery, The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, in part, said this:

"This opinion is reminiscent of a disastrous 1948 when the GOP made an extremely bad guess as to Mr. Truman's chances. In that year the republicans didn't fight and their candidate, Governor Dewey, anemically scamped the country on a 'no-to' platform. Assuming that Mr. Truman will run again in 1952, 'just any republican' can't beat him. Even Senator Taft's chances would be somewhat less than even. . . . The republicans must not regard Mr. Truman as a pushover. He has a way of making the voters forget about administration scandals, about his friends who peddle their influence for a price, about waste in government and no attempt to curb it, about the seeds of unsavory items in his sorry record of confusion and frustration. They forgot such things in 1948; they could do it again in 1952."

The Globe-Democrat is only a little less naive than Senator Taft. It is right when it says Mr. Truman will not be defeated by a "nobody." It is only repeating an old political axiom when it suggests that it is impossible to defeat somebody with nobody. Yet victory, sweet as it could be for a party long out of power, is not the prime consideration in the minds of the voters at this time. The chances are that 1952 will see a rash of independent voting on a scale never experienced before. The public is not greatly concerned about what happens to the two old parties. It recognizes the need for two-party government, but even more it is concerned with the election of men rather than the triumph of political parties.

Of course, Senator Taft was stupid in his suggestion that any republican can win the presidency next year. A little chat with Governor Tom Dewey or with ex-Nebraskan Herbert Brownell would have been enough to have convinced Senator Taft of the error of his chatter.

But that is not the most disillusioning reflection provided by Senator Taft's unguarded enthusiasm. It would be difficult to find words to express a more cynical view than Taft uttered. That is no way in which to salute the people, to measure their hopes, their dreams, their desires for good government. It gives voice to a cynicism that is about as depressing as any opinion could be. This talk about all the virtue being in one party and all the evil in another insults the common sense and intelligence of any man or woman with qualifications to vote. Both parties have had their scandals. The skies are filled today with talk of moral disintegration. The thread runs from a national gambling syndicate to laxities in municipal administration in the great cities, to the pollution of college sports, to mink coats and influence peddling in the national capital. That talk is wholesome, healthy. An aroused public opinion is the best assurance of a cleanup long overdue.

There was another postwar era when the party out of power took advantage of the irritations, the gripes, and the mistakes of the party in power to usher in one of the most dismal eras of reaction this country has experienced. The Ohio gang moved into Washington, and the nation's capital rocked to scandals reaching to a president's cabinet. There will never be a time when those who would profit at the expense of good government will cease their efforts to enrich themselves.

But the people of this country are decent. They ask little for themselves but they expect much of those who serve them in public office. And when anybody gets the notion that anybody wearing a party label will do, he is talking sheer nonsense.

What Makes A Town Tick

We were thumbing through a handbook compiled by the League of Women Voters of York, Nebraska, recently. Under the heading, "Our Town," the members of the York organization can be proud of a most thorough useful study of their own community.

It won the York group admission to the National League of Women Voters. It should. In a very conscientious, down-to-earth survey, no doubt the members of the York league found out a lot of things about their own town previously unknown to them, and to a good many citizens of the community. One little example will suffice to illustrate the effort that went into this study. There was no complete or dependable information bearing upon York's sewer system. The women dug it out; that is, the facts. They explored city government, the schools, the parks, the hospitals, the airport, municipal debt and taxation. They must have had a grand time in assembling the material. They are entitled to congratulations for the booklet they completed.

Since 1880, with the single exception of the drouth and depression years, York has shown a steady, consistent growth in population. It covers a physical area of 1,280 acres, a solid, substantial community.

A Guest Editorial

Arch W. Jarrell ... 'Flowers Of Nebraska'

Editor's note: The gifted editor of The Grand Island Independent, Arch Jarrell, writes of the remarkable transformation that has taken place in Nebraska in slightly more than a decade. This impressive "rags-to-riches" story of recovery from depression and drouth is one of the thrilling tales of Nebraska statehood. And Mr. Jarrell's reference to the expansion of irrigation is a vital part of that story.

It was thirteen years ago next January that I came to Nebraska to live, and in those thirteen years I have seen a magical transformation in a state that had been hit twin body blows by drouth and depression.

Figures are not necessarily dry and uninteresting. In the story of the years between 1939 and 1950, the figures on what Nebraska agriculture has accomplished made almost unbelievable reading. Let me give you a few of them:

Arch W. Jarrell

In 1939, Nebraska harvested 78,450,000 bushels of corn, with an average yield of 12 bushels to the acre and an average price of 56 cents a bushel. In 1950, the state harvested 260,675,000 bushels of corn, with an average yield of 37 bushels to the acre, and an average price of $1.50 a bushel. The corn crop of 1950 was worth more than $350,000,000. That of 1939 was worth less than $44,000,000.

In 1939, there was a wheat harvest in Nebraska of 34,507,000 bushels, or 11.2 bushels to the acre, and the price was 67 cents a bushel. In 1950 the wheat crop totalled 28,128,000 bushels, or 22 bushels to the acre, and the price averaged $2 a bushel. The 1950 wheat was worth $168,000,000, the 1939 wheat $23,000,000.

On the first day of January, 1939, there were 1,869,000 hogs on Nebraska farms. Eleven years later there were 2,499,000 hogs on these same farms. The 1939 hogs were worth $25,360,000, the 1950 hogs $78,698,000.

On the first day of January, 1939, cattle on Nebraska farms totalled 2,810,000 head, and were worth $108,000,000. On the first day of January, 1950, there were 3,920,000 head of cattle on the farms of the state, and they had the stupendous value of $486,000,000.

The cash income of Nebraska farms in 1939, including government payments, was $256,252,000. The cash income of 1950, including government payments, was $988,597,000, or 288 per cent higher. It is true that there is an inflation, but it isn't 288 per cent of 1939 values, or even half that much. The improvement is

Lesson In Economics

Those individuals who engaged in "scare buying" after the outbreak of the Korean war and later when the Chinese communists intervened in the conflict have lived to regret their purchases at high prices and possibly at a time when they actually did not need the goods. The American economy has recovered from those rude jolts, and according to the federal reserve board, savings are now at a peacetime peak of 21 billion dollars. Compare this figure with the annual savings rate of only $4,600,000,000 in the period following the start of the Korean war. Raising one's savings rarely proves profitable, and the lesson should be remembered if there is another wave of "scare buying" in the future.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Offutt Field Sentry Keeps Eye On LeMay

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Iowa Governor's Taxes — The problem of whether to prosecute the republican governor of Iowa for income-tax evasion has been troubling the democratic administration in Washington for months. At first the treasury debated whether it should send the case to the justice department, finally decided to treat the matter as routine. . . . The justice department is now giving Gov. William Beardley a chance to come in and argue his case privately on or about Oct. 10. This is a courtesy given every alleged tax defrauder before prosecution starts. . . . What happened was that Governor Beardley "forgot" to include income from his drug store and his farm. Furthermore, his memory lapse continued for about four years. . . . When the treasury agent asked Beardley for his records, the governor replied that he was "too busy"—"come back later." . . . Beardley kept stalling and never did produce the records, so the agent went to the governor's bank where he found he had neglected to report about $50,000 over almost a four-year period. . . . The treasury agent, in reporting to Washington, pointed out that the governor had made quite a few speeches about taxes, so was quite tax conscious.

Guard for LeMay.—The man the Russians are supposed to fear most is Lieut. Gen. Curtis LeMay, commander of the B-36 squadrons at Offutt field, Neb. He is the man slated to direct the dropping of the A-bomb over Moscow in case of war. . . . The air force, therefore, has wanted to put a special guard on LeMay, but he has objected. . . . Since the assassination attempt on President Truman, however, Air Secretary Finletter has overruled LeMay and put a special sentry at Offutt field's officers' quarters with instructions to keep his eye on LeMay.

Republican Survey.—A GOP scout friendly to Eisenhower has just finished a survey of Illinois, home bailiwick of the Chicago Tribune's Colonel McCormick and the results look good for Ike. . . . Dope is that Werner Schroeder, longtime GOP national committeeman and staunch Tribune man, will be dropped. . . . The colonel also appears to be losing out in Cook county (Chicago), with Simon Murray of Cicero likely to become the local republican power. . . . McCormick has been wanting to shove ex-Sen. Curley Brooks down the organization's throat as governor, but won't succeed. Ex-Congressman William Stratton probably will be the candidate instead. However, even the republicans agree that it won't be easy to defeat popular Gov. Adlai Stevenson, democrat. Next GOP survey for Eisenhower will be in Wisconsin.

Behind Iron Curtain.—Reaction to freedom balloon leaflets from Czechoslovakia was a bit slow at first, but is now snow-balling. Czechs are surreptitiously tacking leaflets up on bulletin boards—even on official government boards—nailing them on telegraph poles.

Washington Calling

More Than Kind Words Needed By De Gasperi

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON.—Among the cynical, what Premier Alcide De Gasperi has just been through is described as "the treatment." The distinguished visitor arrives to be confronted with a split-second schedule of events, public and private, that leaves him scarcely time to breathe.

The shah of Iran got the treatment. So did Prime Minister Nehru of India. So did the president of France. So many VIPs have come and gone that it is almost on an assembly-line process.

The schedule reads: "Lunch, 1:05 p.m. Blair house, host, the president of the United States. 2:14 arrive tomb of the unknown soldier ceremony for placing of wreath. 2:32, conference, chairman, joint chiefs of staff. . . ." The big black limousines whisk through the streets with the whine of the motorcycle escort clearing the way.

Behind all the anchovy canapes, the cocktails and the polite speeches is something much more practical and immediate. Almost without exception these visitors want something from America. Not only want it, they need it urgently.

De Gasperi is no exception. His minority government has only a shaky base in the Italian electorate. It is caught between communism and the revival of a pushing, aggressive force on the extreme right with embarrassing similarities to fascism.

The extreme right, which would like to capture De Gasperi if not supplant him, is reported to be trying to push out of his cabinet one of the few ministers with non-communist rank and file support. That is Defense Minister Rinaldo Ossola, an active worker in the anti-fascist movement in Paris and in the United States while in exile. He fought for the loyalists in Spain until he could no longer put up with the conniving of communists willing to sacrifice Spanish democracy to communism.

If Ossola goes, the government will be greatly weakened. His admirers in this country are disturbed at what may have been an unintentional slight when he was not invited to a luncheon given in New York by Cardinal Spellman in honor of the Italian premier.

De Gasperi's problem has been to push through reforms with sufficient speed and broad enough in scope to win support of the mass of the people who have little now and little to look forward to. Land reform has lagged. About 2,000,000 Italian workers are unemployed. Many more are partially employed. Each year the Italian birth rate sends the population up a half-million or so and it has been difficult to export enough people to keep the economy in some kind of balance.

In this connection the De Gasperi government has been putting considerable hope in a conference under the direction of the international labor office to be held in Naples October 2. This will be attended by representatives of countries needing to send emigrants out and countries receiving immigrants to help build up undeveloped areas. In the bill now clearing congress providing military and economic aid for Europe is $10,000,000 to expedite the program.

But the effort may have been blocked insofar as American assistance goes by Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada. McCarran sent a letter to senators and representatives passing on the final form of the aid bill saying that no American funds should be expended through any international agency on which communist countries are represented. Russia's satellites are members of ILO but they will not participate in the Naples conference nor in the project to move 1,700,000 Europeans to new homes, which was to have come out of that conference.

The ILO, a specialized agency of the United Nations, has been preparing for more than a year to direct the job of transferring people from countries where they are in surplus to countries where they are needed and wanted. If ILO is now pushed out of the picture, a new attempt will have to be started from scratch.

At the NATO conference in Ottawa, De Gasperi was given some nice words in a pledge that Italy's peace treaty would be revised, and the arms limitation is about to be removed. He will have to take more than words home from Washington if his government is to become a vital force for stability in a peaceful and economically sound Italy.

No. 34
Of A Series

By BEVERLY LARSEN

LOUIS BABST, 2346 Calumet court, and the Lincoln Symphony orchestra are both celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversaries this year.

Babst, treasurer of the association, was one of the organizers of the orchestra back in 1926 when the then small group boasted only about 25 members.

At that time, Louis Babst was principal flutist for the "Little Symphony," as the orchestra was called. He continued in this position for 22 years out of the 25, and only recently had to give it up because of business duties. During this time he never missed a concert.

"It has been gratifying to see the interest catching on," Babst said, remembering the days when the symphony played in St. Paul Methodist church. "Twenty-five consecutive years is a remarkable accomplishment for an orchestra," he observed proudly.

BABST has had plenty of musical background to aid him in his symphony work. He studied music at the University of Nebraska and the Institute of Musical Art in New York City. During World War I he played in a U.S. army band in Germany.

"But Mrs. Babst is really the musician in our family," her husband hastened to add. Mrs. Babst, also a graduate of the University of Nebraska school of music, is a pianist. Two daughters in the family, while mildly interested in music, have not gone into the art with the intensity of their parents.

LOUIS BABST . . . an anniversary shared with a symphony.

"Work with something as creative and enjoyable as music could never be tedious to me," Babst commented on his 25-year loyalty to the Lincoln Symphony. "It has been fun to watch it grow," he said, thumbing through programs of concerts in past years. And he expects to see it develop and continue to grow for a long time to come.

Drivers' Licenses

Okinawa
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have been on Okinawa for a year now, and have a driver's license worth exactly two bucks in the good old home town. The army honors this license from Nebraska. On June 30 I airmailed a check to the county treasurer and asked that my renewed license be returned, but my check was returned with a request to partially retored by a Japanese Quaker, and was inherently against the war lords. . . . Many persons criticized Grew for this policy during the war years—among them this writer. Therefore, I should like to be among those—as I have before—to pay him tribute on the wise policy which eventually culminated in the peace treaty at San Francisco.

LATTA M. HANSEN

Editor's Note: County treasurers throughout the state were not permitted by law to issue any renewals on drivers' licenses before September 1 of this year. In order to secure a renewal license, Servicemen Hansen—as all other license-holders—must turn in his old license to the county treasurer, indicating on the back of the old license the date of his birth. This, together with the $2 fee for renewal, return postage, and a correct return address, will secure the usual prompt and efficient service maintained by our county officials. The expiration date for renewals in the state is October 31; County Treasurer Berg's office advises, however, that servicemen returning to the states may renew after that date without the necessity of a driving test.

Good Old Franco

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I can't understand why there is so much opposition to Spain's Franco. He is a good dictator, a 100 per cent totalitarian, and a great friend of the late Hitler and Mussolini, so why not welcome him into our democratic fold? Just think of all that good Spanish wine he'll be able to give our soldiers if they are driven back into Spain. Franco says he won't allow his soldiers to leave Spain to defend Europe or serve under commanders of other nations, so we ought to be thankful for the promise of wine, shouldn't we? What strange acts are done in the name of expediency!

RESERVIST

A Busy Time

Ainsworth, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: If this assignment is intended as a 100 per cent job, it can be considered that only in the sense of a change, for my time seems to be as fully occupied as ever. I don't even manage to find time to write to the friends I cherish except when business demands it. I miss my friends there more than I can say, and often think of them.

CARL G. BADER

Editor's Note: Rev. Bader is a former pastor of Elm Park Methodist church and has a wide circle of friends in this community.

Among NEBRASKA Editors

Lisle Hanna, in The Harvard Courier: "Perhaps Old Sol is going to stay with us for a spell, and goodness knows, his smiling face is badly needed around these parts if the corn crop is going to be any more than something to talk about."

Gene Kemper, in The Alliance Times-Herald: "Mr. Truman is a lavish spender—of other people's money."

Eleanor Seberger, in The Dawson County Herald: "How was the fair this year?" someone will ask, with the superior air of non-participant. To youngsters, who live from August to August, such talk is sacrilege. They think the speaker as old as Solomon, but not as wise."

E. P. C., in The Greeley Citizen: "A friend writes to ask: 'Has this desk been accorded a salary boost lately?' The answer is 'no.' The last plea was met by a barrage of 'right for production costs' and other talk of that sort, so that 1948 felt hat will have to be worn another winter."

Congressional Pay

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I get tired of hearing and reading such drivel as: "These poor congressmen can't make both ends meet on their meagre salaries of $12,500 to $15,000 a year." These men are chosen public servants. As such, they have the heavy responsibility of deciding the policy of the greatest democracy on earth. I think it is generally agreed that many of them could earn three times that amount in private law practice. As lawyers they would enjoy the friendly respect and high esteem of their fellow citizens. But as public servants they must endure the sardonic and bellicose jealousy of spiteful and ungrateful constituents.

Acheson's Comeback

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Secretary of State Acheson has shown in the last few weeks that he is a far greater man than his detractors. Even Time magazine, which is no friend of Acheson and has been howling for his scalp for a long time, has had to reconsider and now says that he could be one of the greatest secretaries of state in our history. Acheson is well educated, dignified, has unquestioned ability in international affairs, and works hard at his job. He has come back strongly in public esteem, although those who have been knocking him can be expected to plunge their daggers into his back again at the first opportunity.

222 Slaughterers Tagged For Violations

Investigation Will Continue Indefinitely

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government said Wednesday that 222 slaughterhouses in all sections of the country have been reported as violators in the big push to enforce the beef price control programs.

A report on violators by districts listed five violations in the Omaha district. The OPS pointed out that the violations were not necessarily in the headquarters city found.

In Omaha the district enforcement officer said there were 10 violations ranging from minor to substantial.

An office of price stabilization (OPS) official said the number of actual violations over the country might run into the hundreds. He explained that in many cases two or more violations were found in a single slaughterhouse.

OPS also disclosed that violators were tagged in more than 50 cities as a result of the drive begun Tuesday by around 1,500 OPS agents.

Violators Found
An agency official said this meant violators were found in at least half the cities where the agents swooped down to check on operations of the meat packing and distributing agency.

Price Enforcement Director Edward P. Morgan said the results "indicate widespread violations of OPS meat regulations." He added in a statement that the inquiry into "illegal

Cornett's Case May Go To Supreme Court

OMAHA — (AP) — District Judge James T. English refused to quash charges of contempt of court against professional Bondsman L. S. (Bob) Cornett.

Cornett's attorney, Eugene D. O'Sullivan, said he would take the case to the state Supreme court. Cornett is charged with contempt in practicing law without a license and in obstructing justice.

Wednesday's hearing before Judge English was on O'Sullivan's motion to quash the charges.

practices will continue indefinitely.

Meanwhile, there were these other developments with regard to beef:

1. Top mobilization officials asserted there is no intention of abandoning the beef price program.

2. OPS disclosed it plans to announce new beef retail ceilings Thursday night, increasing prices across butcher shop counters by 1½ to 2 cents a pound.

New prices, which will go into effect Monday, are a follow-up to the higher beef wholesale prices authorized last week.

3. Morgan said most of the slaughterers accepted the enforcement investigation in good spirit, but he added, "Our agents have met resistance on several occasions." Details as to where resistance occurred were not made available.

Morgan said appropriate court action will be taken against all violators.

HEIRESS-PRESUMPTIVE TO BRITISH THRONE—This is a recent portrait of Princess Elizabeth, heiress-presumptive to the British throne whose trip with her husband, the duke of Edinburgh, to Canada and to Washington was postponed Wednesday for a minimum of two weeks. ## Princess Elizabeth Delays Tour To Remain Near King's Bedside

LONDON — (AP) — Princess Elizabeth decided Wednesday to postpone her Canadian tour and stay near the bedside of her father, King George VI, during the next few anxious days of his recovery from a lung operation.

The heiress-presumptive to the British throne and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, put off for one or two weeks their royal visit that was to have started at Quebec Oct. 2 and to have included a flight to Washington Oct. 24. Canada's prime minister, Louis St. Laurent, suggested the postponement.

The announcement of the postponement came from Clarence House, the London residence of the princess and the duke, 14 minutes after Buckingham palace warned the British people the king's condition would cause "some anxiety for the next week or 10 days."

The king underwent a serious lung operation Sunday. The latest announcements said his strength was improving, but their tone was not so optimistic as Tuesday's bulletins.

Princess Elizabeth and the duke drove to the palace Wednesday evening. Conservative leader Winston Churchill visited there during the afternoon.

The king's doctors have never said what his ailment was, nor have they announced whether they removed all or part of the lung. The king's surgeon, Clement Price-Thomas, said in a medical paper written before the operation that the removal of a lungal ribs so contraction of the body's surface might fill the gap the diseased tissue had occupied.

Develops New Way Extracting Oxygen From Atmospheric Air

William L. DeBaufre, recently retired chairman of the department of engineering mechanics at the University of Nebraska, has been given a patent on a new process of extracting oxygen from atmospheric air.

DeBaufre is now holder of over 50 patents dating from 1917 to date, nearly all of which are related to engineering processes or machines. His oxygen patent covers the intricate apparatus developed along with the process.

In writing on the retirement of Prof. DeBaufre at the end of the last school year, Dean Roy M. Green of the college of engineering stated that DeBaufre's "scholarly influence will be felt for many years."

Prof. DeBaufre joined the university's staff in 1919. He remained as chairman of the department of mechanical engineering until 1926 when he left for work with a private engineering firm.

He returned to the university in 1931 and became chairman of the department of engineering mechanics where he remained until retirement. He is now with the state department of roads and irrigation.

Writes Many Articles

DeBaufre has taught a variety of engineering courses and been a prolific writer in his field. He has made special studies or served as a consulting engineer for many firms, including the Bureau of Mines, Industrial Gas Engineering Corporation, Sinclair Refining company and Westinghouse Electric.

In commenting on DeBaufre's work Rep. Karl Stefan (R-Neb.) listed a number of unusual patents issued by the Washington patent office. Among them, he said, are those for a collapsible window, a selflocking nail, removable knee patches for pants, a nut and fruit shaking device and an adjustable diaper.

"You're no doubt familiar," wrote Stefan in his weekly news column, "with the story of the man who decided to be an inventor and therefore wrote to his congressman for help. Since he didn't want to waste time on anything already invented, he asked for a list of those things that haven't yet been made."

"Ridiculous, but also insane, was the shortsightedness years ago of some members of congress who opposed appropriating operating funds for the patent office, because they believed that much of what could be invented had already been done so, and had little faith in the ingenuity and imaginativeness of Americans to continue inventing."

Vandals Halt Bridge Work

OMAHA—(AP)—Work on the approach to the Mormon Pioneer Memorial bridge which will cross the Missouri river in north Omaha was halted after the construction company announced that vandals had damaged its equipment to the tune of $12,000 to $15,000.

Holes were punched in radiators, and tires were slashed on seven machines sometime during the night, Myron Erickson of the Erickson Construction company said. His equipment is expected to be tied up three days.

"This damage wasn't done by kids," Erickson said. "This was done by men who know equipment and how to damage it easily and effectively. Those who did the damage were well versed on how to immobilize the machinery."

Excellence Takes Effort, Underwriters Are Told

A national insurance underwriter executive Wednesday said the urge for excellence in business life was the "capacity to do things when it's no longer fun."

Howard H. Cammack, president of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, told Lincoln underwriters that the reward for excellence is competence and appreciation by "your fellowman."

Cammack recognized the achievement of 23 underwriters who recently completed and received certificates in The Life Underwriters Training Council.

Highway Projects Slated To Commence Next Month

Other Work Delayed By Wet Season

Several highway projects in Nebraska are scheduled to get under way next month, State Engineer H. L. Aitken has announced. The work includes:

1. Construction on the relocation of highway No. 91 between Leigh and the intersection of No. 15, and on spurs south of Clarkson and Howells.
2. Asphaltic concrete surfacing of the relocated route of U.S. 34 between Stratton and Culbertson.
3. Widening of U.S. 30 between Grand Island and Chapman.
4. Preparing a detour during reconstruction of U.S. 73E between Macy and Winnebago.

Along with this announcement came word from State Engineer Aitken that several road projects already started may not be finished until after the first of the year. These include:

1. Gravel surfacing on five miles of U.S. 281 between Camp and Eagle creeks north of O'Neill.
2. Building a new bridge over the Little Nemaha river and one over Silver creek, both south of Palmyra.
3. Gravel surfacing on 6.3 miles north of Gordon.

The extremely wet summer has made normal construction progress impossible, State engineer explained. "It's not easier for contractors to use their heavy grading equipment when the ground is soaked than it is for farmers to plow when their fields are muddy," he said.

Wider Grade
The grade on the new highway No. 91 near Leigh will be 32 feet wide and will be on a straight alignment with the relocation now under construction from Dodge west to No. 15, Aitken declared. The spurs to be built south of Howells and south of Clarkson will connect these towns with the new highway.

Surviving are his wife, Maybelle; a daughter, Jane, Beatrice; two brothers, George W., Beatrice, and William F., Holmesville; and three sisters, Mrs. Nettie Brown, Beatrice, Mrs. W. G. O'NEILL, Neb.—(AP)—Mrs. Bee O'Donnell Rentschler, 78, a member of a pioneer O'Neill family, died Tuesday. Survivors include three brothers and three sisters.

Unlike bituminous surfacing which can be laid only during hot weather, the hot-mixed asphaltic concrete slated for U.S. 34 near Stratton can be laid down whenever the temperature is above 40 degrees, according to Construction Engineer A. W. Bohner of the state highway department.

All the grading, culvert and foundation work the surfacing of U.S. 34 between Stratton and Culbertson that can be done before the bridges are completed has been done. Relocation of the road was made necessary by the construction of the Trenton dam.

U.S. 30 To Remain Open

The work on U.S. 30 at Grand Island will start with that east of the city before the widening of the highway west of there. When the work of widening the pavement from 20 to 24 feet is completed, the entire surface of the highway is to be covered with a three-inch thickness of hot-mixed asphaltic concrete.

No. 30 will remain open to traffic throughout the construction. One-way traffic will be necessary only during the resurfacing. The construction of the bridges over the Little Nemaha and Silver creek is to be financed with federal-aid secondary funds. The bridge over Silver creek will be a concrete slab structure; a longer steel girder bridge will be erected over the Little Nemaha.

New N.U. Lab Test Determines If Ground Okay For Irrigation

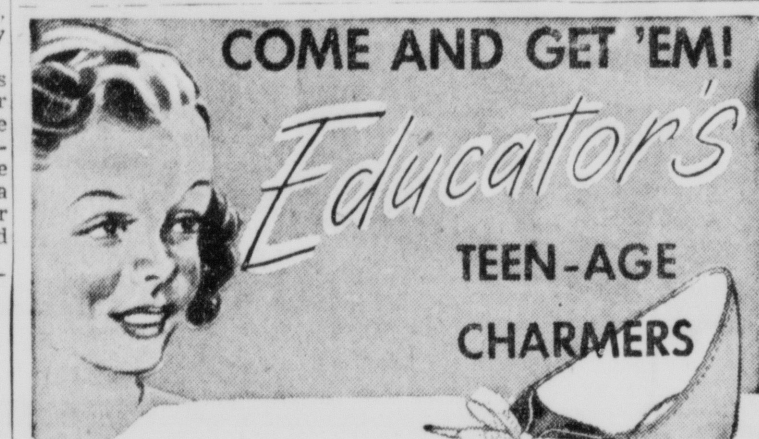

University of Nebraska soil scientists now have a way of finding out how fast water will go through soil in its natural state right in the laboratory.

They're testing a large number of sample of soil for the bureau of reclamation to find out whether the ground is suitable for irrigation. Others are from the Grand Island area. Some from the Niobrara valley will be tested in the future.

The process takes a scientific-looking array of tubes, bottles and other apparatus. Actually the process is simple. A core of soil four inches in diameter which was taken from the field is placed in a tube. After the cores are brought to the laboratory they're placed on brackets and water is siphoned slowly from a bottle above into the soil. The amount of water coming through the core or soil during a certain period is measured in a glass tube below.

The bureau of reclamation has a machine which will take a core sample to a depth of 10 feet in a matter of 15 to 30 minutes. Scientists at the lab take into consideration the length of the core in calculating the rate water comes through the soil.

Most of the soils now being tested for irrigation possibilities are from the Republican valley. Others are from the Grand Island area. Some from the Niobrara valley will be tested in the future. The researchers can simulate irrigation water right in the laboratory, too. They have an analysis of water in the area which the soil comes from. They apply the same chemicals to distilled water to get the same effect.

Ex-Leaseholders Retain Their School Land

Arthur Sale Hits Total Of $53,700

ARTHUR, Neb. —(AP)—All former leaseholders were successful bidders Wednesday in the auction held here of leases of 10 sections of school lands.

The only exception was in the case of one section of land formerly leased by two men. One of the former leaseholders dropped out of the bidding.

The overflow sale had to be moved to the courthouse to accommodate the large crowd.

The leases on the 10 sections of land brought prices of $3,700 to $6,100 for a total of $53,700.

Pleasant Sale
An observer described the sale as "very pleasant."

E. George Peterson of Keystone was a heavy buyer of leases at this sale retaining in all leases on three sections of land ranging in price from $4,900 to $5,500.

Peterson held a lease on a half section of land adjoining a half section held by Eddie L. Larson of Arthur, but when the leases were put in parcels of one section each, Peterson dropped out and Larson bid in the whole section for $3,700.

The highest price came from Milldale farms, which paid $6,100 for one lease, $5,900 and $5,800 for two others.

Other successful bidders were Charles Deaver, W. R. Curtis and Fred H. Thakken.

78% Farms Electrified

... In Cornhusker State
WASHINGTON —(AP)—Nearly 78 per cent of Nebraska's farms had electricity as of census time last year, census bureau figures disclosed.

This and the trend towards increased mechanization have brought a "tremendous" increase in the purchases of home equipment and machinery, the census bureau said.

Of the total number of farms—107,183—in Nebraska, the 1950 census showed 83,309 farms electrified. Telephones were in 69.54 per cent farm homes; electric water pumps in 38.115; electric hot water heaters in 20.008; home freezers in 11.173; electric washing machines in 18.196, and electric feed grinders in 1.204. Milking machines were on 9.452 farms.

The number of grain combines on Nebraska farms in 1950 was 37,078; corn pickers 42,025; pick up hay balers 4,274; upright silos numbered 3,450, and pit or trench silos 7,417.

Motor trucks on Nebraska farms increased from 1945 to 1950 from 33,761 to 54,398; farm tractors increased from 86,203 to 127,652, and automobiles on the farms from 118,572 to 121,220.

Coincident with the increase in farm machinery the number of horses on Nebraska farms declined in five years from 413,018 to 209,773.

Kearney Campus

(STAR PHOTOS)

We were SO surprised to find this story on the Associated Press wire, datelined Kearney—"Sunday is a sleepy day at any college and the Nebraska State Teachers College here is no exception."

"Yesterday noon, however, the college football team was scrimmaging on the field in full uniform, the girls' gym class was suited up for tennis matches, instructors were fore-going dinner to conduct mock classes and groups of students were all over the campus."

"The sudden activity was caused by the editor of a state paper who called Friday to say that photographers would be here at noon to get shots typical of a week-day's activities."

"To top it off, the photographers were late. When they finally arrived at 3 o'clock all the hungry and weary students had gone home and the campus had again taken on the sleepy silence of a Sunday afternoon."

"Because, you see, the pictures we wanted were on our desk. When our photographer finally arrived, he found the campus wasn't exactly sleepy or silent, as you can see by the pictures—maybe the pace is less hectic on Sundays, but the Kearney students seem to have lots of fun, and they were most obliging in letting us share it."

At upper left is a group of Men's Hall residents, gathered around the piano in one of the attractive glass-brick bays that frame the front entrance of the modern building. They are, from left to right, Dale Van Wormer of Broken Bow, Bob Fenster of Broken Bow, Marshall Hahn of Hampton, Don Darling of Kearney, O. L. Brawner of Wilcox, and at the keyboard, Jack Leit-hoff of Kearney.

The feminine counterpart of the first scene was photographed at Case Hall, the girls' dormitory. Jane Waldo of Republican City is at the keyboard, and on the sofa are Rose Marie Hibberd of Lexington, Patsy Johnson of Gothenburg, Joanne Rath of Harvard and Marcia Lee Zorn of Gothenburg. Grouped around the piano are Bonnie Richter of Hayes Center, Virginia Barrett of Murdock, Lucile Brown of Hershey, Dolores Classen of Hastings, Marcella Ridder of Callaway, Argelia Colon of Arroyo, Puerto Rico, Barbara Walker of Paisdale, Mary Alice Bauer of Culbertson, Ina Frischholz of Columbus, Maurine Overholt of Edgar, Mrs. Ruby Matthews, the girls' housemother, Marjorie Frazell of Shelton, Marilyn Miller of McCook and Alma

Jean Porter of Trenton. At top right, practicing for that Monday morning rush to class, are Mrs. Berthalyne Pratt ("Mom") to the Men's Hall residents, Ed Murray of Broken Bow, Montie Lum of Fairbury, Bob Hanson of Holdrege and Cecil Stutzman of Chappell.

At the Student Union, below left, Patsy Johnson and Marcia Lee Zorn, both of Gothenburg, look over the selections on the juke box, while in the booth are Alma Jean Porter of Trenton, Joanne Rath of Harvard, Marilyn Miller of McCook, Jane Waldo of Republican City and Argelia Colon of Arroyo, Puerto Rico.

Part of Kearney's attractive campus is the background for the hikers, bottom center. The group includes Marlene Ehlers of Grand Island, Helen Bur-hoop of York, Jackie Bock of David City, Ganiece Tunnell of Stapleton, Helen Oye of Blue Hill, Merlyn Motes of Wahoo, Delores Johnson of Hartwell and Joyce Taylor of North Platte.

Back at the Student Union, we interrupted a flood of foot-ball talk to snap this fivesome—from the left, Montie Lum of Fairbury, Jack Leitthoff of Kearney, Ed Murray of Broken Bow, Bill Watkins of Grant, and presiding at the coffee urn, Pete Kyros of Boston, Mass.

A VARIETY OF THIS AND THAT—brides, guests and informal parties, — appears on the social calendar this morning to brighten and give spice to the last week of September.

Although the official opening of the fall season for most football enthusiasts will come Saturday afternoon at Memorial stadium, Saturday will also mark the opening of the annual fall all-Nebraska art exhibit of the Lincoln Artists Guild to be held in the galleries at Morrill hall.

The exhibit, to be co-sponsored for the first time by the Omaha Artists association, will open at 8 o'clock Friday evening for the Guild and Association members and their guests, and for the public, on Saturday afternoon, to run through Friday, October 12.

Wee Bobby Shantz Downs Yankees On Six Hitter

Cliff Hopp May Miss Opener; Reynolds Continues To Improve

By NORRIS ANDERSON
(Sports Editor, The Star)

THERE was both good and bad tidings in the University of Nebraska football camp Wednesday as Coach J. William Glassford continued priming his Huskers for the Texas Christian Christian opener.

On the credit side was the continued improvement of Halfback Bobby Reynolds, who suffered a shoulder separation 10 days ago at Curtis.

On the debit ledger was the possibility that Linebacker Cliff Hopp, a key man in the defensive platoon, may miss the Saturday game.

Reynolds, still without shoulder pads, was running full speed as Glassford whipped his squad through a two-hour session with emphasis on pass defense. The

All-American's condition hinted that he may return to action sooner than the "four weeks minimum" given at the time of his injury.

Hopp, who suffered a badly bruised elbow a week ago, has been slow responding to treatment. If he is unable to play Saturday, his position would probably be taken by Freshman George Cifra.

To insure the linebacking spots, Glassford is grooming Centers Ken Schreder and Verl Scott for duty there. Scott distinguished himself in 1950 as a linebacker.

Ken Moore and Emil Radak, defensive halfbacks, were also being groomed to fill in for Hopp.

Glassford announced that Quarterback John Bordogna and Halfback Tom Carodine will be both offensive and defensive starters against the Horned Frogs.

Announcement of the Bordogna-Carodine double duty, plus the heavy concentration on pass defense, hinted that Glassford fears a Texas Christian aerial barrage.

SCOUTS ACTIVE

Three scouts will be active Saturday. Ray Prochaska will watch Minnesota against Washington, Pete Janetos will log Penn State against Boston and Neal Mehring will chart Iowa State against Kansas.

Referee Gets Two

On the Horned Frog front, Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer is spending most of the week working over his pass defense. It was the inability of his secondary to break up Kansas passes that resulted in that opening 13-27 defeat.

The overhand defense, which includes two sophomores, will work overtime every day. In addition, the Frog attack will come in for much polishing. Against Kansas, the Christians managed for 14 first downs (same number the winners made) but were able to keep their drives going only twice. The coaches were disappointed in that aspect.

The Frog team will leave early Friday morning by air for Lincoln. They will return Saturday night after the game.

Giants Stay On Dodgers' Trail As Both Clubs Score Triumphs

Little Lefty Wins 18th Victory
(From Press Dispatches)

The Philadelphia Athletics interrupted the New York Yankees' pennant march Wednesday, beating the Bombers 4-1, on the strength of three home runs and tight pitching by little Bobby Shantz.

Only six hits were garnered off the former Lincoln A's pitcher, as he posted his 18th win against nine defeats, the best record of any Philadelphia pitcher during the past ten years.

Shantz, a 5-foot-7 lefty, joined Mel Parnell and Virgil Trucks as four-time winners over the Yankees as a special 26th birthday present to himself.

Needing only a win over the A's to assure themselves of at least a tie, the Yanks were completely victimized by the talented little fellow from Pottstown, Pa. All six of their hits were singles while the Philadelphia "spoilers" turned on the extra base power for three homers, a triple and three doubles in their 10-hit attack on loser Bob Kuzava and Johnny Sain.

Zernial's 33rd homer, following Elmer Valo's triple in the third, was a terrific blast that carried into the left field bleachers some 430 feet away. Only Joe DiMaggio and Hank Greenberg hit balls into those seats in the memory of the oldest Yankee Stadium greybeard.

Jimmy Dykes' hustlers simply manhandled Kuzava in the early innings while Shantz made the Yanks roll over and play dead. But for Billy Hitchcock's two-base boot of Mickey Mantle's smash in the first, he would have had a shutout. Hank Bauer's single scored Mantle but Joe DiMaggio lined into the first of three Philadelphia double plays.

Phillies, Braves Victims Of Assaults
(From Press Dispatches)

The torrid National league pennant race continued right in character Wednesday night as the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers and the trailing-by-one-game top contenders, the New York Giants, slaughtered their respective foes.

The Dodgers got the ball rolling in an afternoon contest as they slew the Boston Braves, 15-5. Not to be outdone, the Giants slashed away at the Philadelphia Phillies in a night game, 10-1.

Big Don Newcombe, coasting behind his mates' 14-hit attack, won his 19th game of the season—his first since Sept. 8.

Newcombe allowed the Braves eight hits, including home runs by Bob Oddis and Earl Torgeson, and he had an eight-run lead before the Braves put together three singles and a double for their first three tallies in the fifth.

Every Dodger with the exception of Newcombe partook in the attack, chipping in with at least one safety. All but Andy Pafko scored at least one run and only Newcombe and Pee Wee Reese failed to drive in a mate.

Larry Jansen, New York's stylish right-hander, registered his 21st victory of the season as his teammates made it 35 wins in their last 42 games.

Monte Irvin, a dominating factor in the near-miraculous drive waged by the Giants, was the big gun again. The muscular New Jersey bashed out a homer, a double and a triple to drive in four runs and raise his league-leading total to 119.

Six pitchers, starting with Lefty Ken Johnson, paraded to the hill for the Saweyerners. The Giants got a total of nine hits, but they took advantage of nine bases on balls and two errors by the Phillies.

Johnson, who was tagged with his eighth loss, failed to survive the first inning as the Giants scored four times.

Saddler Scores TKO As Fight Winds Up In All-Around Hassle

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK — (INS) — Sandy Saddler retained his featherweight championship Wednesday night, when Willie Pep, fighting furiously with his own cursing handlers, quit on his stool after nine rounds of an unbelievable ugly brawl.

"He wants to quit," panted Referee Ray Miller, leaning over the ropes and talking to ringside Physician Dr. Vincent Nardiello. "You keep out of this, Miller!"

roared Bill Gore, one of Pep's handlers. "He's ready. Keep out of this!"

Nardiello climbed into the ring. "My eye," Pep said to him, pointing to a vicious red wound that had been opened as early as the second round.

"Shut up!" Gore said to pep. "I don't want to go on," Pep said.

"Okay," said Referee Miller. He looked relieved. "I'm stopping it."

GOOD EVENING

Miller had reason to be thankful it was ended. He had started his pre-fight instructions to these two arch enemies by saying, "good evening, gentlemen," and he spent the next half hour prying them apart, warning them, stopping the fight to lecture them, falling to the floor with them, taking rounds away, and wiping Pep's blood off his shirt amid a fantastic display of dirty fighting.

Pics On 14

Saddler, the former Harlemite who is all elbows, attached himself to Willie like a leech, holding him with one long hand and belting him with the other. Willie spent three rounds figuring out what to do about it. Then he spent the rest of the fight putting his thumb in Mr. Saddler's aggressive face.

In between clinches that coupled them together like two flat cars, Saddler and Pep dashed around the ring, throwing the book at each other. It was a book that would have been banned in Boston. Saddler got the better of it. He punched harder.

Referee Gets Two

Willie had him against the ropes in the second round, with a barrage of shots to the head, but suddenly Sandy came out like a windmill, rubbed Pep across the ring, and with one vicious one-two to that already-gushing eye plunked him to his knees for an eight count.

There were several other knockdowns, both inside and outside the ropes, but in each case at least two men went down. Once all three went down. International News Service scored the first five rounds for Saddler, two for Pep and two for the referee.

It rained the second straight time while Pep, in fighting Saddler, had given up while sitting on his stool. A year ago at Yankee Stadium, the 20-year-old Connecticut ward suffered a dislocated shoulder and could not come out for the eighth round.

Saddler failed to hear the bell after two rounds and kept right on swatting. Willie had a round taken away for "unnecessary roughness," a wildly visionary compliment delivered by the referee as a result of having found Willie's glove in his eye.

This marked end of ninth round. Pep did not come out for the tenth round.

momentum behind a line that divvies up the weight at 171 pounds per man.

DEFENSIVE SHIFTS

Pfeiff has instituted two changes in the Links' defensive lineup to cope with the Central threat. End Bob Barnett will move into the safety spot, with Jim Miller replacing him at the terminal spot.

The Lincoln offensive lineup will remain the same as at the start of the season. The Little Maroons will have a weight advantage in the line of six men, while Lincoln backs will give away a dangerous 18 pounds apiece.

To offset the weight factor, the Links will have the plums of Bill Debus, 181-pound fullback, and Dick McWilliams. Rounding out the Red and Black attack are shift-running Ted King and Bob Northrup. Tackle Ken Brierly and Guard Sylvester "D.D." Mendoza will shepherd the duties of co-coaches.

The probable starting lineups:

Collier's Visits Mr. Reynolds

ON the newstands today is Collier's magazine with a 2,000-word feature, replete with pictures, on Nebraska's Bobby Reynolds.

Labeled "Nebraska's Mr. Touchdown," the article by Bill Fay is designed more for good reading than for factual content. It does make good reading.

Bobby himself told The Firing Line he didn't know where the author got some of the details.

Three excerpts, in particular, mystified the young All-American:

(1) The fact that he came to Nebraska unheralded in football, but as a basketball star.

"Gosh, basketball is not my best sport—I don't think."

(2) That he keeps a Ted Williams bat in his room and handles it as he studies.

"Why the guys would laugh me out of the fraternity!"

(3) That he turned down a big league bonus offer with the statement that his grandfather had already left him a lot of money.

"That was really news to me."

Otherwise, the article is well done. It goes a long way towards justifying Collier's mistake of leaving Reynolds off even its All-Midwest team picked early in the 1950 season. The same author made the omission.

Some excerpts from the article that should interest you:

Averaging 2.4 touchdowns per game for the season, he rolled up 157 points (22 touchdowns and 25 conversions) for the highest total since Jim Leach compiled the all-time high of 210 points (26 touchdowns, 48 conversions and two field goals—for Virginia Military Institute in 1920).

Links To Face Tough Test At S.C. Central Tonight

Giles Gets Bid As N.L. Prexy

CHICAGO — (AP) — Warren Giles, who graciously stepped out of a stalemate with Ford Frick for Baseball's Commissioner's Wednesday was graciously asked to become Frick's successor as President of the National League.

League Vice-President Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs Wednesday disclosed that the loop presidents wanted Giles, 55, dignified No. 2 man of the Cincinnati Reds, to accept Frick's $40,000-a-year job at a meeting already set after the final World Series game.

"Mr. Giles is giving the matter serious consideration," said Wrigley in a statement, "and naturally we are all most anxious for him to accept, as everyone must recognize that he is undoubtedly, from every angle, the best qualified man that we could get."

Naturally, he would be, because the owners kept giving Giles the same number of votes as Frick in the Sept. 20 balloting to name a man to baseball's top job, the $65,000-a-year commissionership.

TODAY is C.D.—for Chips are Down—day at Lincoln high school.

Tonight Coach Bill Pfeiff's Links stride forth on enemy soil against their toughest foe to date —Sioux City Central.

The Red and Black, victorious in their two encounters thus far this season, meet a third Missouri Valley conference foe at Sioux City's municipal stadium tonight in a game which could go far toward determining the loop champion.

The Little Maroons of Coach Mark McLarnan loom as one of the toughest in the conference. Last week they bowed to a tough West Waterloo club — described by Iowa prep grid authorities as one of the best in the state—by the count of 26-19.

'ALWAYS RUGGED'

"They're always rugged," Pfeiff told the Links prior to defensive drills this week. "They've always been one of our biggest hurdles," he said, recalling last year's tilt when the Links were forced to come from behind to capture a 20-19 decision.

Following last week's sporadic showing in a 14-0 win over Sioux City East, Pfeiff made no bones about Lincoln's chances tonight.

"We've got to play 48 minutes of football if we're going to beat them—not just 12 or 24," he said, describing Central's offense and the personnel that makes it click.

A backfield which will average 178 pounds per man powers the Central offense, which gains its

LINKS' CO-CAPTAINS — Ken Brierly (left) and Sylvester Mendoza, veteran standouts in the Lincoln line, will share co-captains' duties tonight as the Links invade Sioux City Central.

Fullback Nick Adduci will serve as guest author of The Firing Line Tuesday if the Huskers win. He's promised a victory, so you readers can look forward to a column from Mr. Adduci.

Plainsman Hopes Fade As Bob Starkel Quits School

NEBRASKA Wesleyan's fading gridiron hopes took another blow Wednesday when Bob Starkel, senior guard from Lincoln, and a two year letterman, dropped out of school.

Coach Roy Robertson said Starkel, a regular on the 1951 offensive has taken a job.

It was only Monday that Robertson received word that John Calvert, senior three year veteran end from Pierce would be out for the season.

Calvert received a cartilage injury in his left knee. At first it was though he would be missing but a few weeks.

Thus Starkel and Calvert joined the growing list of experienced Plainsmen who have been lost since drills began Aug. 27.

Bob Thurston, giant defensive bulwark of last year's club, failed to report after checking out gear; Don Alley, rugged defensive line backer who has been in a heart condition; and Bob Gentry, defensive team captain and a three year vet tackle, passed up a year of competition to enter medical college.

And regulars Dave Williams, Milton Schmidt and Hansen Taylor have all been hobbled by injuries and may not be at peak condition for Friday night's contest with Wayne State.

Meanwhile, Robertson announced that Schmidt and Howard DuBois will serve as co-captains Friday night, as he drilled the Methodists on offensive formations.

Robertson held a surprise indoor workout Tuesday night as he sought to sharpen the Plainsman running game.

The weak Plainsman offensive has been the biggest detriment to good football this fall and has contributed to making a reasonably good defensive unit look shabby when opponents' scores are tabulated.

Robertson said he will continue to run his busy through offensive formations Thursday afternoon.

Robertson indicated lineup changes made earlier in the week will hold for Friday night.

TWO ROUNDS TO THE REF—Sandy Saddler and Willie Pep Wednesday night engaged in one of the wildest exhibitions of fisticuffs seen in the Polo Grounds in many a year as the Champion Saddler retained his featherweight title by scoring a ninth-round TKO. At left, Pep bites the canvas in the second round after being floored by the champ; center, Referee Ray Miller takes his turn on the deck in the seventh heat as he attempted to separate Saddler (foreground) and Pep after the latter wrapped his right leg around his opponent's left. At right, Saddler slips to the canvas in the eighth after he was charged by Pep. One observer scored the fight five for Saddler, two for Pep, and two for Miller. (AP Wirephotos.)

Hoosiers Get Six-Point Edge Over Notre Dame

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO—(AP)—The frost isn't quite on the pumpkin, but the time has come again for that fall folly, pigskin prognosticating. Here goes for the first Saturday of the Midwest season.

Indiana 19, Notre Dame 13—Notre Dame must test its sturdy, but unseasoned squad against an Indiana team that isn't too deep, but mighty slick as far as it goes.

Except for a brutal schedule including, after Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan State, the Hoosiers might be a Big Ten title threat.

Michigan 13, Michigan State 7—An early season flyer, just because we think maybe Biggie Elliott walked for Burdette in 8th; Hartfield struck out for Chapman in 9th.

Brooklyn 15, Boston 5—E—Kerr 2, RBI—Campbell, 5, Hodges 2, Paine 2, Cox, Furillo, Robinson 2, St. Claire, Addis 3, Torgeson, Snider 2B—Campanella, Hodges, St. Claire, Cox, H.R.—Addis, Torgeson, SN—Hodges, Robinson, DP—Sisti to Kerr to Torgeson; Robinson to Hodges. Left—Brooklyn 6, Boston 4, BB—Sunkent 3, Estock 1, Cole 1, Burdette 1, Newcomb 2, SO—Sunkent 4, Paine 1, Newcomb 3, HO—Sunkent 7 in 4 2/3; innings: Paine 0 in 1/3; Estock 0 in 1; Cole 5 in 1 1/3; Burdette 1 in 2/3; Chapman 1 in 1, HRP—Chapman (Furillo). WP—Burdette, PB—Cooper, Winner—Newcomb (19-0), Loser—Sunkent (12-16), U—Donatelli, Dascoli, Stewart and Con-if Washington forgets the Gophers still are a Big Ten team.

Ohio State 20, Southern Methodist 7—This time, the Mustangs won't catch the Buckeyes without their umbrellas, even if it does rain passes. Vic Janowicz should make Woody Hayes' coaching debut a pleasant one.

Texas 21, Purdue 13—Stu Holcombe has been quietly pleased with his Boilermakers, and this time the Texas heat won't get Purdue. However, the Longhorns come with six-shooters still smoking from a 7-6 win over Kentucky.

Iowa 42, Kansas State 7—The Hawkeyes have the speed they lacked last season, and this game may be the springboard for an Iowa club that could surprise in the Big Ten.

Wisconsin 21, Marquette 7—Marquette is sharp and capable this season, but the Badgers are being boomed as a Big Ten title contender with the stuff to make it.

Washington 18, Minnesota 7—Even without injured Don Heinrich, the Huskies are high-voltaged as witness their 58-7 romp over Montana last week. Wes Fessler, Ohio State's gift to Minnesota, can have some fun though.

Northwestern 21, Colorado 14—Bob Voigts' Wildcats aren't taking this one lightly and they have enough claws in a seasoned backfield to rip the Buffs. All-veteran Colorado will be a tough tune-up for Northwestern's joust with Army the following week.

New 'Dustless' Roads Are Now Available In State

Alliance-Lincoln Route Finished

A dustless highway from Lincoln to Alliance by way of state route No. 2 now is available as result of completion of a bituminous surfacing project between Dunning and Halsey, state engineer Harold Aitken said.

Albion will have a dustless highway connection toward Columbus with completion of a contract on state route No. 39 between St. Edward and Genoa and No. 22 east of Genoa.

And completion of a project between Loretto and Neligh will give Albion another dustless outlet to the north to U.S. 275 and U.S. 20.

A job well under way eventually will give Pender a dustless connection with U.S. 77. Two miles south of Pender were surfaced last year. The diagonal to Bancroft is under construction now, and the department plans to improve the remaining segment east of Bancroft next year.

Other important links under construction now are the relocation of U.S. 34 at Trenton, and North Platte's outlet to the sandhills.

Improvement of the road between Stapleton and Theford will not be completed until next year, but the project is far enough along that sandhills residents can travel over it to North Platte during the coming winter, Aitken said.

If you are looking for the place to buy or sell some of the furnishings necessary in a home, you will find a seller's and buyer's market under Class 39, "Home Furnishings," in the Journal-Star Want Ads.

Chest, Red Cross:

Employees' Drives Are Combined

Plan For Large Firms May Lead To Single Lincoln Solicitation

A new employee solicitation plan involving larger firms bringing together the combined efforts of the Red Cross in Lancaster county and the Lincoln Community Chest was agreed on Wednesday at a meeting of the two groups.

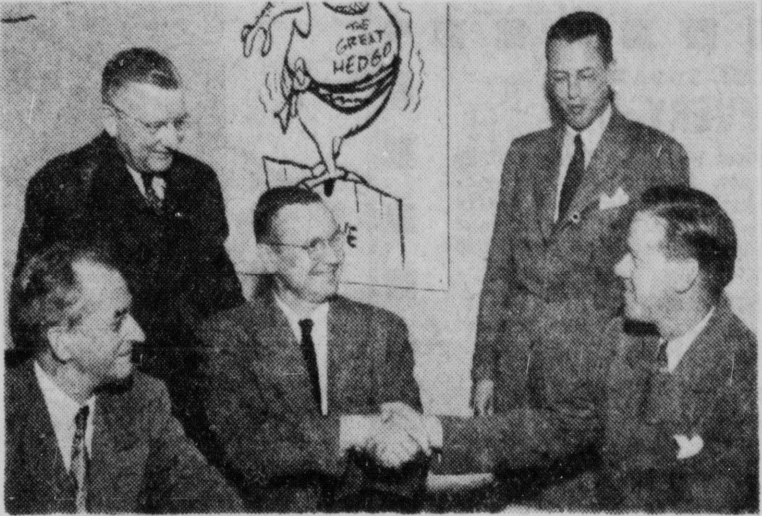

The Red Cross, however, still will conduct its annual campaign in March among all groups and classes of contributors not participating in the plan. Also, the Red Cross will be free to conduct such additional emergency campaigns as may be required by disasters or other emergencies.

The move gave impetus to the hope that eventually the solicitation programs of the Red Cross and Community Chest one day may be totally combined.

The employee contribution plan calls for solicitations from large employee groups and will permit management and employees of larger business firms in the Lincoln area to conduct a single annual solicitation through a payroll deduction or other approved plan.

Details remain to be worked out in connection with this year's Chest's drive next month. Announcement of the agreement for the co-operative plan was made by Carl W. Olson, president of the Lincoln Community Chest, and Robert A. Dobson, chairman of the Lancaster county chapter of Red Cross.

Olson and Dobson in a joint

NEW SOLICITATION PLAN SET—Robert A. Dobson, chairman of Lancaster county chapter of the Red Cross, and Carl W. Olson, president of the Lincoln Community Chest, congratulate each other on a new solicitation plan agreed upon by the two organizations. The plan provides for contribution to both the local Red Cross and Community Chest by larger employee groups through joint solicitation. Shown are, seated, Clarence Hinds, member of the executive committee of the Red Cross and chairman of the negotiating committee; Dobson; and Olson. Standing are, left, Albert A. Held, chairman of the coming Community Chest campaign, and Walter S. Henrion, head of the employees division.

statement said the opportunity to work toward greater co-operation in soliciting employee groups represents fulfillment of the desires of directors of both the Chest and the Red Cross.

National Policy Change
The decision of the Red Cross followed receipt of a report on a change of national policy from E. Roland Harriman, American Red Cross president.

Mr. Harriman stated that he was confident that in those communities where federated fund raising is well organized, and fully representative of the business, labor and citizen leadership this most recent modification of policy would be recognized as a sincere desire on the part of the American Red Cross to work with the industrial, business and labor leaders of the country.

Further points agreed upon by the group provide:

1. Recognition of the Red Cross as a principal in the solicitation on an equal footing with, and not as part of, the fund-raising agency.
2. Reservation to the Red Cross of the right to determine its own budgetary requirements nationally and in the chapters, and its campaign goal.
3. Reservation to the Red Cross of its right to conduct a regular annual campaign among the rest of the community and to conduct community-wide and chapterwide appeals as part of special National Red Cross campaigns for funds in the event of war emergencies or major disasters.
4. Identification of contributors from whom the Red Cross receives $1 or more as Red Cross members.
5. Publicizing adequately the arrangements made for a concurrent campaign.
6. Limitation of agreements to one campaign year, so they may be reviewed annually in the light of experience.

Infantile Paralysis Fighters 'Closing In On Polio Virus'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman was told Wednesday that fighters against infantile paralysis "are definitely closing in on the virus of polio."

The report was made by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and of the International Poliomyelitis Congress. He has just returned from an international conference at Copenhagen.

"I am convinced the conquest of infantile paralysis is in sight," O'Connor reported, "though I can not predict how many years it will take to reach this goal."

City Keeps Voters' Faith Inter-Club Council Told

The city council, in adopting its budget for the 1952 fiscal year, kept faith with the voters who passed the recent charter amendment, E. J. Faulkner, chairman of the city planning commission, reported to the Inter-Club Council at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday noon.

"Appropriations already have been allocated," Faulkner said, to start on a solution to the city's pressing needs, such as storm sewers, better fire and police protection, and street improvements.

A discussion of the chamber of commerce plans for improving Oak Creek park was held, and Mrs. Emogene Moore was appointed Inter-club chairman to contact Lincoln civic groups in obtaining blood donors for Red Cross.

Mrs. Katherine Hurst, council president, presided.

Butler Says Steel Shortage To Slow School Building

WASHINGTON, — (AP)—According to Nebraska's Senator Butler, there won't be "enough steel or copper to permit construction to be started next year on about half the necessary schools." The republican senator said this is "only one example of what happens when every energy is devoted to military preparedness."

"It is hard for me to believe that we are in such a crisis that we cannot provide schools for the educational and moral training of the coming generation," he added.

NEA Enters School Land Lease Fight

Dr. A. L. Burnham, executive director of the Nebraska Education association, told The Star that the association plans to enter the fight involving the sale of state school land leases.

He said a legal counsel was contacted Saturday and directed to outline a plan for entering the dispute.

"Our policy," said Dr. Burnham, "is to protect the income from the school land and to get the largest amount consistent with the rights of the lease holder and the welfare of the land itself."

Controversy arose over the sale at auction of state school land re-leases, renewed during the past four years.

The board of educational lands and funds is conducting sales of 2,300 re-leases in accordance with a state supreme court decision, which invalidated a 1947 legislative act providing automatic lease renewal.

Dr. Burnham said, "I'm sorry this had to come up." He added, "We have no axe to grind except with those who are asking more than they are entitled to."

Talk on Sea Bees—Lt. Comdr. Joseph R. Decker, Ninth Naval district, led an informative discussion of the "Sea Bee" program at the United States naval reserve training center at 8 p.m., Wednesday.

J. Gordon Roberts Gives Pointers To Local Jaycees

J. Gordon Roberts, president of Roberts Dairy, Tuesday outlined to the Lincoln Jaycees some of the requisites for an advancing young businessman.

Roberts, born and reared in Lincoln and a graduate of the University of Nebraska, is state chairman of the unit business committee of the National Association of Manufacturers. He also is national president of the Pop Warner midget football foundation.

In speaking to some 250 Jaycees on "Your Business Future," Roberts said one of the first "musts" of a successful businessman is the ability to determine the difference in what is vital to be done and what is desirable to be done.

He outlined the two main causes for deviations in prosperity and depression as follows:

1. The attempt of one party to enrich itself without returning value for the price;
2. The failure of one segment of society to pay adequate returns for services rendered.

The latter situation, Roberts said, is notably prominent in Europe.

Roberts blamed much imbalance in industrial leaders to not being able to follow rules of logic.

Roberts' closing remarks were that "war is organized mob rule" and results from irrational thinking on the part of society.

GOP Convention Delegate Hopefuls Will Parley Here

Nebraska republicans have asked potential candidates for delegate or alternate delegate positions to the 1952 national convention to meet here Oct. 13 at the Cornhusker hotel.

The invitations have been sent to persons who were candidates to the 1948 convention and to others who are presumably interested in becoming delegates or alternates to the 1952 meeting.

Nebraska is entitled to 10 delegates and 10 alternates at large. Harry S. Byrne and Charles S. Reed, both of Omaha, sent the invitations.

The pair pointed out that the attorney general has approved legality of joint petitions, providing that the number of candidates nominated in one petition does not exceed the number of delegates and alternates to be elected from the various districts at large.

Each petition for district delegates or alternates must be signed by at least 500 republican electors representing at least two-thirds of the counties in the district the candidate seeks to represent.

The two Omahans suggest that instead of circulating a petition for each person who wants to be elected, the candidates go together and make up only petitions to nominate everyone who wants to be voted on.

That way, they said a lot of time and expense can be avoided, particularly on the part of republican leaders in each county "who are always asked to circulate such petitions."

Norfolk Girl Associate Editor Daily Nebraskan

Joan Krueger of Norfolk was named as the new associate editor of the Daily Nebraskan, University of Nebraska student newspaper. She succeeds Kent Axtell of Beatrice.

Miss Krueger will be succeeded as managing editor by Donald Pieper of Omaha. News editors are Shirley Murphy, Lincoln, and Sarah Adams, Aurora.

Named as assistant business managers were Stan Stipple, Nebraska City, and Arnold Stern, Omaha.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

(Distributed by International News Service)

My barber says he has been trying for weeks to find out what a "butterfly statistic" is and he finally figured out it's any statistic caught in a government net.

Mr. Truman referred some time back there to "butterfly statistics" and some thought maybe it was the same as "presidential bee in the bonnet," but no one can prove it.

I think myself a "butterfly statistic" may be one of those reports on the speed, power and smash of our "terrible new weapons" . . . all of which seem to be inadequate for use in Korea.

We are probably the first government in history to boast of the most awesome weapons in the world while continuing to feed infantrymen into a war that isn't even called a war.

If we're still at peace, how come the casualty lists get longer and longer?

And if it's war, how come congress never has certified it?

QUIRKS

GARFIELD, Utah—A 27-year-old cowboy, Leo J. Street, was tired and hungry when he entered a Garfield restaurant. Owner Jay McAllister objected.

In a complaint charging disturbing of the peace, McAllister said Street didn't get off his horse when he came through the door.

Shucks, he just wanted a hamburger, Street argued.

Fifty dollars fine, the justice declared, and then suspended $15.

CAMDEN, N.J. — Patrolman William J. McDade, walking his beat, stopped to talk to two policemen in a parked patrol car. Suddenly the police radio reported an accident—"child struck by auto."

McDade, curious, went along. The injured child was McDade's six-year-old daughter, Sharon. She suffered a cut chin and bruised foot.

Percentage Collection Of City Tax May Set Record

With a total tax collection for the current fiscal year to date of $1,244,029.85 the percentage collection of the total levy could set a new all time record with September's receipts still to come.

While the fiscal year ended Aug. 1 the city tax collection year runs to Oct. 1. Collections for the first 11 months represent 96.85 of the total tax levy for 1950-51.

If September collections boost the total over 97 per cent it will top both the record years of 1945 and 46 when that figure was reached. The figure will be no record in the amount collected as the city has cut its levy in the past few years because of the tax limit it operated under.

During the 1949-50 tax year the city collected $1,247,767.61 in taxes or 96.23 per cent of the levy. Back taxes collected during the current year totaled $53,150.18 as compared to $65,878.23 during the 1949-50 year.

$318,698 in General Fund
At the end of this fiscal year Finance Director Theo Berg also reports an ample balance of $318,698.48 in the general fund to carry the city through September and until the new year's tax collections start coming in. In setting up the budget for the new year Berg missed estimating the balance by only $5,000.

In reporting a total cash balance of $1,906,031.35 City Treasurer Frank Miller listed $453,423.88 in tax funds, $660,768.10 in self sustaining funds, $359,611.73 in definite purpose funds and $432,227.64 in special assessment district funds.

Miller reported credits for August of $499,809.98 in tax and miscellaneous receipts and debits of $676,278.21. Tax revenue alone for August was $6,883.81. Miller also reported securities held in the amount of $1,668,878.39.

six to twelve packages a week to Omaha for use at the auction. But the average is not bad. The lost item turning up most often at the post office is car keys with identification tag attached. People finding the keys drop them into a post office letter box and eventually the keys get back to their owners.
